Santa Barbara, CA, June 4, 2020 – The Lobero is deeply committed to its role as a community asset. When we learned Vitalant was seeking large locations able to socially distance donors, we were happy to work together to find a way to meet this critical need. Vitalant—the nation's largest nonprofit, independent blood collector serving the Central Coast, has declared a critical shortage of blood as supplies have been significantly impacted by the coronavirus pandemic. Shelter-in-place orders led to 762 blood drives canceled since early March alone, resulting in a loss of 25,194 uncollected blood donations. That, coupled with a resumption of surgeries and other medical procedures as stay-at-home restrictions were lifted, has caused a 25% increase in the need for blood during the past several weeks.

Those interested in donating blood can learn more at Lobero.org, and reserve an appointment. These appointments are required to reduce wait times and accommodate social distancing requirements. All Vitalant blood donation events deploy strict precautionary measures to ensure the safety of donors, patients and staff, including:

- Taking donors' temperatures before entering premises
- Requiring face masks or cloth-based face coverings for donors and staff
- Disinfecting donor-touched and other high-touch areas often and after every donation
- Ensuring social distancing to keep donors and staff safe

All blood types are critically needed right now, with an especially high need for type O, A-negative and B-negative red blood cells. In addition, platelets are always needed by patients for cancer treatments, surgeries and emergencies. Because of its short shelf life—only 5 days—the supply of platelets must be continually replenished.

The Lobero is looking for other ways to collaborate and be a resource to the community within the social distancing constraints. If you have any innovative ideas that we can help bring to life, please reach out to director@lobero.org. The Lobero Theatre has been serving the community in many ways 147 year history, including as a shelter during the 1925 Santa Barbara earthquake. We're looking forward to lots of great events later this year, and can't wait to welcome you back just as soon as possible. Despite the current schedule disruptions due to COVID 19, the Lobero Theatre Foundation is working with our family of supporters and friends, digging into the Lobero's rich history with regular "Intermission" online informational series, thanks to a generous gift from Earl Minnis. The Lobero is currently participating in the #LightItBlue campaign celebrating health care and essential workers.
