The fans have spoken! Santa Barbara's historic Lobero Theatre has announced a special rebroadcast of Kenny Loggins "unplugged" performance which will be live streamed as a four day pay-per-view rental on Thanksgiving weekend (November 26 - 29, pre-order tickets). The performance was a delight, encompassing the warmth of Kenny Loggins' unforgettable hits while reflecting on a career with stellar collaborators during his musical journey into the hearts of the world. Join us for the Thanksgiving treat! Additionally, Live From The Lobero performances by Steppenwolf's John Kay and KT Tunstall can be streamed now in the Lobero concert library. Tickets for all live stream shows are $15 and can be purchased at the Lobero Theatre's Website. Those who are able to make a donation to support the live music experience at the Lobero Theatre and other venues around the country are welcome to contribute more when they purchase their tickets. Proceeds from the shows will go towards supporting the Lobero Theatre and a donation will be made to NIVA, the National Independent Venue Association.

The Lobero Theatre is one of the oldest theaters in the country. For almost 150 years, the Lobero has featured some of the world's greatest artists. Since closing its doors to limit the spread of COVID-19, the venue has lost over $1 million in critical earned income. Like every theater, nightclub, and performing arts center in America, the Lobero faces an uncertain future. When ultimately allowed to reopen, the Lobero and others will need to survive with reduced occupancy, in order to safely socially distance. A great many venues are likely to disappear, before ever getting back to live audience.

The Lobero Theatre is striving to grow their audience by diving into the streaming world with their Live from the Lobero Pay-Per-View Concerts. The Theatre's contactless performances are livestreamed as inexpensive pay-per-view concerts. Their safety-centric production model involves a forensically small crew with PPE, temperature, and symptom checks while entering the building, all crew members will remain in their specific space for the entire production. After set-up, the day before show day, the stage, doors, hallways, and rooms, will all be disinfected to meet COVID-19 sanitation guidelines. On show day, no one other than the artist(s) walks on to the performance stage. Artists arrive through stage doors and take their place on-stage, perform, and exit, without making any contact with the crew.

About The Lobero Theatre

The Lobero Theatre has been serving the community in many ways throughout its 147-year history, including as a shelter during the 1925 Santa Barbara earthquake. We're being creative during the current schedule disruptions by digging into the Lobero's rich history with regular "Intermission" online informational series, thanks to a generous gift from Earl Minnis, showcasing our building as a part of the #LightItBlue campaign celebrating health care and essential workers.

Established as a non-profit organization to act as stewards for this important historic institution, the mission of the Lobero Theatre Foundation is to maintain and operate the historic Lobero Theatre as a performing arts center and cultural asset to the community of Santa Barbara, and to present the highest quality productions in music, dance, and theatre.
