The Lobero Theatre Foundation is hosting a free concert in appreciation of the Santa Barbara Community
An Evening with Zach Gill and Special Guests
Saturday, July 31 at 6 PM

Santa Barbara, CA, July 12, 2021 – The Lobero Theatre Foundation would like to express their heartfelt gratitude to Santa Barbara’s amazingly supportive community by hosting a free concert celebrating the return of live events. The Lobero kicks off their season with An Evening with Zach Gill and Special Guests on Saturday, July 31.

For almost 150 years, The Lobero Theatre, the fourth oldest continuously operating theater in the country, has featured some of the world’s greatest artists. But like many independent venues, the house fell silent in 2020, when the coronavirus shuttered the entertainment industry without warning. After closing its doors to limit the spread of COVID-19, the theater lost more than $1.5 million in critical earned income and faced an uncertain future. By emptying stages across the globe, the pandemic generated an urgent need to reimagine the live performance experience - both for artists and audiences stuck at home.

In an effort to save itself, the Lobero launched a specially-priced live, pay-per-view concert series in June of 2020. Live from the Lobero was born, embracing the concept of “contactless performances” in the intimacy of the empty historic hall, breathing life into an innovative virtual event series. Artists included Kenny Loggins, KT Tunstall, Charles Lloyd Ocean Trio featuring Gerald Clayton and Anthony Wilson, Steppenwolf’s John Kay, and the Derek Douget Band. The Lobero also participated in “Pianos on State” virtual concerts program, featuring various local artists such as Zach Gill and Opera Santa Barbara.

The Lobero is deeply grateful to their local and international patrons who supported them during the global crisis, made additional contributions when purchasing tickets, and generously offered to forego ticket refunds on cancelled events. The Lobero is honored to be part of the Presidio Neighborhood and looks forward to welcoming back the Santa Barbara community. After a successful soft reopening this June with Songs of Summer and the Santa Barbara Opera, the Lobero is thrilled go back to doing what they do best – LIVE! So come raise a glass under the stars on the esplanade to celebrate the Lobero’s kickoff to the 21-22 season and enjoy An Evening with Zach Gill and Special Guests!

Zach Gill, a multi-instrumentalist, singer/songwriter most known for his work with ALO and Jack Johnson, has performed for presidents, with some of music’s biggest stars, appeared on numerous late night TV shows, and in historic venues throughout the world. He’s recorded music with or backed up every one from Jerry Harrison of The Talking Heads to Neil Young, and sung duets with Eddie Vedder and Amy Mann. Gill’s set will pull from his 3 full length albums, his deep ALO catalog and some classic covers. He will be joined onstage by ALO band mate Steve Adams and Jack Johnson cohort Adam Topol, as well as by local favorites, including the surf mariachi indie pop artist Spencer the Gardener, guitarist-composer Joe Woodard, and Brazilian New Bossa vocalist-guitarist Teka, and more. The event is first-come first-served and seats 575 people. Concert 6 PM-10 PM, doors at 5 PM.
