Death & Taxes

The Life and Times of Sunny Garcia

Director and Co-Producer: Michael Oblowitz, Co-Producer Doug Kaplan

Synopsis: Sunny Garcia was one of the most successful competitive surfers of his generation. In his prime, he was the highest-earning professional surfer of all time. Born and bred in the 1970's and 80's ghetto of Waianae, he was mentally tortured by the demons of a tough childhood and ultimately the racial and cultural discrimination of being the first indigenous Hawaiian of color to win a world title.

Running Time: 11 minutes

Instrument

Director: Michael February, and co-directed by Tao Farren-Hefer

Synopsis: Instrument explores the surprising parallels between the worlds of surfing and music. Surfer Michael February, and jazz trumpeter Keegan Steenkamp, embark on a vibrant journey, inspiring and reflecting each other's crafts. From coastlines to jazz clubs, they find unexpected harmony as they delve into their shared language of tempo, resonance, and spontaneity. In a heartfelt exchange that transcends collaboration, each becomes teacher and student to the other. Together, they discover unexpected synergies in their crafts - revealing the universal language of creativity and connection.

Running Time: 10 minutes 2 seconds

So, Bonnie Land

Director: Thomas Horig

Synopsis: So, Bonnie Land, a love letter to the frozen north, is an ode to the lesser-known surfing and waves of Scotland - a wild and beautiful place, and the folk who make it so. Cinematographer, Thomas Horig, filmed the project over 3 years while living in the Scottish Highlands. Far from warm waters and classic surf scenes he found a small, thriving community of dedicated cold-water warriors amongst some stunning waves and imposing coastline.

Running time: 3 minutes 3 seconds
